- 50. Briefly highlight the contributions of the department in generating new knowledge, basic or applied.
 - Preparation of study material for Open School, IGNOU
 - Evaluation of M.Phil. And Ph.D. works and framing courses of other Universities.
 - Members of the Department have served on National Commissions and fact-finding missions, Advisors to other Universities.
- 51. Detail any five Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities and Challenges (SWOC) of the department. Strengths
 - Periodic revision of courses; introduction of innovative and interdisciplinary courses, Peer review of curriculum.
 - Availability of qualified teachers specializing in different historical periods, themes and regions; proficiency in different languages.
 - Faculty working on major/minor projects on different and divergent aspects of history. Under DRS programme small grants are provided to faculty to facilitate research
 - The Department has been adjudged a Centre of Excellence in India by the Arts and Humanities Council, UK, in2010.
 - Regular faculty meetings and democratically taken academic decisions ensure the smooth functioning and collegial atmosphere in the Department.

Weaknesses

- Non-availability of quality reading material in Hindi and Urdu
- Grading system not favorable to Humanities and Social Sciences
- Intake quality of students at the undergraduate level needs to be improved.
- A full fledged Ancient Indian History Section is absent. However the university is taking concrete steps to correct this imbalance.
- Under semester system, because of greater variety of courses, more faculty members need to be inducted.

Opportunities

- Location and advantage of department
- Relatively easy access to research funding

- Curriculum flexibility
- Teaching load is reasonable
- The Department is in position to interact more (both at the national and international level) by entering into collaborations/ agreements with other institutions

Challenges

- To compete with the other Universities, located in Delhi to attract good under Graduate students.
- Self-assessmentexercisesneedtoberigorouslyandregularlyconductedforfaculty as well students.
- The autonomy of academic departments is increasingly coming under threat because of the policies of liberalization being pursued at the national level.
- The discipline of history has to constantly remain vigilant against attacks by communal interests to influence scientific historical research.
- To maintain high standards of academic research and discipline.

52. Future plans of the Department.

1. The Department wishes to strengthen its focus on Ancient Indian History, Archaeology and introduce new innovative programmes. The Department is keen to offer specialization in Ancient Indian History at M.A. Level. Archaeology being a relative and a relevant field will also be important for the Department. We are also open to introducing 'Add on courses' as approved by the UGC or other apex bodies. In the interests of historical research we would very much like to introduce the teaching of Persian and Sanskrit in the Department.
