

Name of the Scholar- Shweta Pathak

Name of the Supervisor- Dr. Naved Iqbal

Department- Psychology

Title of the thesis-Academic Stress and Emotional well-being in relation to SES and Parenting Style.

Findings

Significant differences between authoritative and authoritarian parenting style and between authoritarian and permissive parenting style on academic stress were found. However, significant difference was not observed between authoritative and permissive parenting style on academic stress. Significant differences were found between authoritative and permissive parenting style; authoritarian and authoritative parenting style; permissive and authoritarian parenting style on negative affect. Significant differences were found between authoritative and permissive parenting style; authoritarian and authoritative parenting style; permissive and authoritarian parenting style on positive affect. Significant differences were not found for SES on academic stress. SES and interaction effect of parenting style on academic stress also not found significant. Significant differences were not found for SES on negative affect. SES and interaction effect of parenting style on negative affect also not found significant. Significant differences were not found for SES on positive affect. SES and interaction effect of parenting style on positive affect also not found significant.