Vice Chancellor’s Message

Dear Students and Staff of Jamia Senior Secondary School,

It gives me immense pleasure to see the endeavors of the students and the entire fraternity of Jamia Senior Secondary School in launching the very first Newsletter, Lala-e-Sehra, which is an embodiment of knowledge, reviews and many forms of learning visible through this beautiful window, reflecting the ethos, aspirations and soul of the school.

Great learning happens when an academic institution offers itself as a bridge for students to enable them to cross over hurdles and boundaries to reach the other side by unlearning all they learn. This saga of unlearning ensures a process of relearning. I am delighted to note that the school is making efforts to create a very healthy atmosphere conducive to teaching and learning. The Newsletter is an attempt to foster creativity, innovative ideas and critical thinking and so on. Keeping abreast with the educational changes and paradigm shift around us and documenting all learning that creates a positive environment for the development of students is a responsibility we must fulfill. Lala-e-Sehra is a reflection of that effort. It will showcase the academic engagement and contributions of both students and teachers.

I congratulate the Editorial team along with the staff and students of the school who have embarked upon an enterprising and fruitful journey.

I wish you a resounding success!

Dear Students and Staff of Jamia Senior Secondary School,

Education is the most powerful weapon to bring positive and desirable change in the world. To create a feasible education system with achievable goals, it is incumbent upon educators to create a conducive atmosphere for the students to learn, grow and develop their cognitive, affective, psychomotor, social and emotional skills. It is heartening to note that Jamia Senior Secondary School, with its first issue of the half yearly Newsletter, Lala-e-Sehra is set to establish that a vision of an educational institute, envisaged by its great founders can be successfully achieved and with dedication, sincerity and diligence. The Newsletter is a fresh start in a positive direction.

I extend my hearty congratulations to the fraternity of Jamia Senior Secondary School which is endeavoring hard to create a constructive and a promising landscape of learning with such an endeavor.

I wish you the very best and hope you remain passionately inquisitive, creative, interested in the welfare of the students, industrious and committed as always.

From the Principal's Desk

JAMIA SENIOR SECONDARY SCHOOL Jamia Millia Islamia (Central University)

My dear Students and Staff of Jamia Senior Secondary School,

When the potter held the wet clay in hands ever so firmly and lovingly, and placed it on the spinning wheel, the result was a beautiful clay pot which, in its core, was capable of holding all the water to quench the thirst. I have always felt drawn to this analogy as an academician, as it is a reminder that we owe the responsibility of shaping the minds that matter, the hearts that are capable of healing and the spirits that yearn to learn. Once the clay learns to endure in the hands of the potter, the true pupil emerges- pure, precious and passionate for more learning. Jamia Senior Secondary School, with its family of dedicated faculty members and enthusiastic learners, through this enterprise of giving shape to Lala-e-Sehra, the Tulips of the Wilderness, has shown that persistence and perseverance in work yield productive results. The title of the Newsletter evoked in my mind a narrative of teaching and learning amidst challenges and trials which we are exposed to. And as custodians and curators of the learning of our students, we do the role of the clay potters in their lives.

I would like to wish my family of teachers and students of Jamia Senior Secondary School, the very best for working on the first issue of Lala-e-Sehra and endeavoring to keep up the passion for learning and teaching, instilling in hearts the love for learning, keeping the imagination ignited and ensuring that progress follows. This is the first step. There are many more steps to climb. Together we shall make this journey of learning a memorable one.

An Author in the Making

A proud achievement for Jamia Senior Secondary School is a novel published by a young student from class XII Arts C- Wafiya Faiz. The title of her novel is Wake up before you regret An inspiration to the young minds, Wafiya is a perfect example of a girl having made judicious use of the lockdown period to pen her thoughts to give shape to a book.

Reach out to the moon!

Four students of Jamia Senior Secondary School- Hafsa Fahad, Mobarak Samar, Rasheed and Arham Hayat (Batch of 2021) were selected to attend the UNVIE Space themed Youth Exchange Programme, hosted by the U.S. Department of State through the University of Alabama, Huntsville. The students represented India among 4 more participating countries in this USSRC Advanced Space Academy, for ten days from 28th April 2022 to 7th May 2022. USSRC is a Smithsonian affiliate and the official visitor center for NASA's Marshall Space Flight Centre. The journey of these four talented students started with their induction into the Access Micro Scholarship Program, organised by the U.S. Embassy in collaboration with Jamia Millia Islamia, where their interest in exploring different aspects of knowledge through experiential learning beyond their classrooms helped them acquire critical thinking skills and creativity. Their visit to the U.S Space Camp is the first step towards their goals and bright future opportunities.

The Access Microscholarship Program

The Access classes started in a virtual mode due to the pandemic. Students were introduced to a virtual set up and a comprehensive tutorial enabled them to become familiar with the online environment, break-out rooms for collaborative work and the google-suit class set up. By the end of the session the classes resumed on a face-to-face level.

Learning objectives:

The Access classes enable students to-

1. Understand the nuances of Language learning
2. Speak, read and write English effectively
3. Gain self confidence
4. Enhance their EQ and IQ level
5. Engage in Public speaking and give presentations
6. Work with local communities on different issues
