

Centre for European and Latin American Studies Jamia Millia Islamia is organizing a short course on

Introduction to Brazilian Poetry

(in four sessions)

Open to students (Advanced level) and teachers of Portuguese by

Ao vivo coração do firmamento, em chama viva e tênue claridade, dirijo meu incerto pensamento: um singular mistério me pervade e veste de infinito meu tormento.
Perdidos na profunda imensidade, no dédalo de fogo e de escarmento, os astros desesperam da verdade...
Percebo nas alturas, abrasado, as notas de uma fuga imemorial e o canto das esferas sublimado na vasta nebulosa ocidental: vem, Astro soberano e deserdado, reger a dissonância universal.

E temo a cada
passo

o encontro que
não sei

Marco Lucchesi

Poet, Translator and Member of Brazilian Academy of Letters

Born in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Marco Lucchesi studied History at the Federal University of Fluminense, and received his doctorate in Science of Literature from the Federal University of Rio de Janeiro and post-doctorate in Philosophy of Renaissance from the University of Cologne, Germany. He edited Poesia Sempre, Tempo Brasileiro and Mosaico Italiano and currently edits the Revista Brasileira da ABL. He has translated, among others, Umberto Eco, Rûmî, Hölderlin, Juan de la Cruz e Rilke. He has authored many award-winning books and taught in several universities of the world.

On October 4 & 5 (2 to 5.30 pm), 2016 at CELAS, AV Hall, Mujeeb Bagh, JMI, New Delhi

Those attending all sessions will be issued a certificate. Register by email to aprasad1@jmi.ac.in

Co-ordinators: Sonya Surabhi Gupta and Ajay Prasad www.jmi.ac.in