

January 25, 2024

Press Release

CIE, JMI and IT-ITeS Sector Skills Council NASSCOM collaborate to launch free Skill-Based Short-Term Courses

The Centre for Innovation and Entrepreneurship (CIE), Jamia Millia Islamia (JMI) is proud to announce a groundbreaking collaboration with IT-ITeS Sector Skills Council NASSCOM to offer a series of skill-based short-term courses. Aimed at empowering students and professionals with cutting-edge skills, these courses will be provided free of charge.

The following courses are part of this initiative:

1. Programming Basics of Blockchain Engineering
2. Programming for Automation Engineering
3. Google Cloud Computing Foundations
4. Build Blockchain-Based Marketplace
5. Gaming in Blockchain: Build Your Own Memory Puzzle Game
6. Build with Python and Play Along: Your Own Journey to Angry Bird Game
7. Introduction to Cybersecurity
8. Product Management Basics
9. Data Structures and Algorithms
10. NLP in Action: Build an AI Fake News Detection Engine

The courses are designed to cater to a diverse range of interests, from programming and cloud computing to game development and cyber security.

All courses will be offered completely free of charge, thanks to the joint effort and commitment of JMI and NASSCOM. This initiative is in line with our shared vision of fostering innovation and entrepreneurship by providing accessible, high-quality education in emerging technologies.

Prof. Rihan Khan Suri, Director of the Centre for Innovation and Entrepreneurship, expressed enthusiasm about the collaboration, stating, “This initiative is a testament to our commitment to nurturing talent and fostering a culture of innovation. We believe that by offering these courses free of charge, we can break down barriers and empower individuals to excel in the rapidly evolving landscape of technology”.

Interested candidates and students are invited to register for the courses through the following link: <https://forms.gle/CWgJhsix1vXDVVHR7>.

The deadline for registration is February 16, 2024.

Public Relations Office
Jamia Millia Islamia